Hallow the Threshold, Crown the Posts Anew:

As we the Class of 1948 graduate, a book of golden memories is closed. This yearbook materializes the fact that a phase of life we have known so well is slipping into the past. Whether we have been successful in school work, on the athletic field, or just one of the gang, we all have memorable experiences. Our heartfelt thanks goes to the administration and faculty for their never ceasing generosity in trying to aid us in becoming better men and women. Day by day obstacles and tribulations will discourage and hamper our view of success; then we find we will turn to the lessons that our teachers, with their unlimited patience, have taught us. We hope that our judgment will be a credit to their labors. Our directions toward these goals have been clearly set by the two great mediums of books and experience. As we step into the uncertain future we clearly vision the job that has to be done. Remembering our firm foundations obtained at Braintree High, we will strive onward, reassured. Our background has prepared us to take our positions as citizens and crusaders for the American way of life. May we never forget you, Braintree High, and all you stand for. We present to you our yearbook and hope you will remember us with pride.

JAMES L. JORDAN, Principal

BRAINTREE HIGH SCHOOL

1918-1948

for many years kindly Mr. Jordan has given his time generously to the students of Braintree High. Known and loved by faculty and students alike, he is a person one meets and immediately admires and respects for the sincerity of his convictions. First and foremost he is a friend who uses his leadership as councilor as well as a disciplinarian. Any punishment he finds it necessary to exercise is to aid the character growth of the student, not to repay him for some wrong done.

Like the architect who designs fine buildings, he molds foresight and dependability into the make-up of the pupils. "For the winds and the waves are always on the side of the ablest navigator."

Regulating and planning courses of study for the individual good as well as for the betterment of the school itself is another of his tasks. He grants personal interviews to the seniors in order that they may not be lost in the shuffle between graduation and the work-a-day world.

Mr. Jordan is a sensitive man with his finger on the pulse of Braintree High. His jovial good will has endeared him to all of us; for this and his keen interest in our activities, we the Class of '48 salute him.

SHIP'S LOG—U.S.S. B.H.S. '48

First Year at Sea

Roll call of the new crew was held Thursday, September 14, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and forty-four and a record enrollment of 285 was noted. The ship's crew and officers are not yet organized but the voyage has started on a calm sea and high hopes are vested in the outcome of the next four years. Cartographers Mr. Albert Murphy and James L. Jordan have planned a favorable course for us to follow. All members of crew have ratings of seamen third class.

Mr. Francis Mear

Second Year at Sea

In view of the staunch loyalty of the crew their ratings have been raised to seamen second class. Recreation aboard ship is being organized. Football, basketball and baseball are favorites of the crew. A committee for a Seamen's Social was chosen and the affair was a great success.

Third Year at Sea

Beginning in the ninth month of the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and forty-six, all able bodied seamen received rating of seamen first class a reward for hard work and perseverance. Recreation aboard ship in the form of football has been made successful by the more rugged members of the crew. Some of these are: Seamen first class Bill Brooks, Henry Williams, Harry Hall Vic Damiano, Vernon Langeley, Jimmy Peckham, Ga Ga Ruddy. Captain John Barranger, First Mate William Goodale, Third Mate Arthur Hicks.

Helmsman Josephine Keany was put ashore at Honeymoon Hill with blessings of captain and crew. Mr. Edward Oakman came aboard in her place. Representatives were chosen to select samples for the ship's insignia in the form of a ring. Samples were voted on by the crew and a worthy design selected. The ship's ballroom was decorated and made ship-shape and a dance was given to celebrate the before-mentioned advance in rating.

Fourth Year at Sea

A photographer was taken aboard ship to help record faces of the crew and happenings on our trip. Results were pleasing to most everyone, and were sent to port to be printed in a ship's book to be distributed among officers and crew. In honor of an advance in rating from seamen first class to ensigns, which was given to a deserving crew, a banquet and a reception was held. Our destination is now in sight and members of the crew are being instructed in the procedure of leaving the ship. As the anchor is being dropped regret is expressed by both officers and crew that this must be the end of our voyage together. As we disembarked we were presented with a charter which entitles us to passage on the good ship "Future."

CLASS WILL

We, the members of the Senior Class of nineteen hundred and forty-eight, being of happy but demented minds due to the hard work(?) of the past four years, do hereby will and bequeath the following worldly goods:

CLASS

Madame Maria Knowallski will now favor us with an account of her latest trip into the future. Her supernatural powers will thrill and amaze you!

I am Madame Knowallski. I will look into my crystal ball and tell you . . . wait! . . . The fog is clearing . . . what is this I see here??? Aha!!

You, Pauline Thomson, have seen a tall, dark, handsome man . . . running the other way. But you'll catch him! That makes you happy, I hope? My goodness, foggy isn't it? Well, well, what's this . . . a spelling lesson, maybe? No . . . it's a name. R-i-c-h-a-r-d G-i-l-l-i-e-s. And what is he doing? My, what a bloody mess. He's carving somebody up . . . Oh, pardon me, he's operating . . . on Bill Brooks, who's been having trouble with his wings . . . flying around too much playing football for Notre Dame. I don't know where the fog is coming from . . . this isn't California. What a weird occupation! Sitting on your boss's knee! And so many people doing it! Anita Raymond, Gloria Frazier, Edna Norris, Dorothy Parsons, Barbara Neal, Doris A. Moore, and Margaret Wheathers. Bargain day on secretaries. Number please? Pat Pino, Nancy Doherty and Mary Vallee are having a wonderful time. All the calls they can take. Oh! Stacks and stacks of dishes, now. Poor little girls . . . stuck at home doing housework. Such a shame! Ann Melville, Janice Joyce and Barbara Whitten seem to be enjoying it, though. Looks like a circus has come to town . . . very colorful scene. Margie Hine seems to be having trouble keeping her ten kids together . . . Bill is watching the snake charmers so he's no help. Everybody wants to get into the act. Harry Hall is throwing hundred pound weights around with a sign that says "Strong Man" over his head. Joan McCue is sitting heavily on a reinforced arm chair by his side . . . "Fat Lady" no less. Vincent Vaccarello is doing his best in the fire-eating tent. Oops! He burnt his tongue! And who are these sweet little ladies doing an African dance? Ah, of course . . . Thayer Anastos, Edna Brayton, Claire Burke, Marilyn Shaylor and Louise Magazu. Thayer, Louise and Edna had practice cheering.

Oh! Oh! Hand me the bellows . . . the fog is closing in again. There!! Now, let me see. A barber shop . . . and what barbers! Mary Pitman, head barber, Ethel Creswell, Nancy Thompson, Pat Taber, Barbara Sylvester and Honey Buker are still courageously waging their never ending war against the "five o'clock shadow." Doing a good business too. Who are these gentlemen they're working on? Jimmy Peckham, the latest "Swoon Crooner" is covered with a wet rag. William Burns, Joe Frazier, Henry Williams, Vernon Langley and Ted Buker—the big business tycoons are receiving manicures, shaves, and hair cuts. Silly boys, shouldn't trust a girl with a razor. Now what do you think of this? Margie Medland and Margaret Reed are teaching dancing. Arthur Lucas, Richard O'Rourke, William Pearson and Arthur St. Andre are their most talented pupils and Ed Ostman flings a mean ballet. Bob Donovan, Ed Flynn and William Westland are getting flat feet chasing down front page stories for their newspapers. Just the other day Westland covered the wedding of million-heiress Naomi Tully. Barbara Hunt, the famous girl lawyer, is in the news for defending a big time gangster. Flynn says he did a big write-up on Walter Harmon, James Crispin and Bill Whelan who are writing scripts for all the smash-hits on Broadway. Phyllis Johnson is their feminine singing star . . . Bill Esson co-stars with her. Skippy Campbell plays the lover with a dash. Phyllis Robery does those torrid love scenes so realistically! Richard Robinson and Paul Benson make wonderful publicity managers. Nancy O'Donnell is trying to teach driving. The other day she made a mistake . . . she got her pupil, Dick Benham, off on the wrong road. And what did they see? A big heap of red and white. It's a bird! It's a plane! It's a Lovell Bus! The driver, an old friend named Cliff Silver, is out with the passengers . . . pushing. But he isn't worried, he knows he's among friends. His passengers are Mike Novio, a policeman on his way to work; Robert Pellegrini, Mass. delegate to the House of Representatives (his car broke down); Joan Mahar, fashion designer and originator of the newest "new look";

PROPHECY

Rose Farina and Barbara Litchfield, the girls who write the new soap operas and Bob Hope's jokes; Thomas Lang, the best darned salesman in captivity doesn't know why he bothers to push . . . walking is easier and he's seen these crates, pardon me, buses, in action or inaction before. Gym instructor Betty Mahar is yelling, "Push, you Dillies!" Sanford Record and Raymond Reddy, famous psychologists, are standing by arguing whether the bus should be pushed backwards or forwards, up or down. Jeane Creswell, high school teacher, straightened them out by telling them which way the bus was going in the first place. There! They got the bus going. Now Nancy can go back to her lessons. Whew! This business of foretelling the future is mighty fatiguing. Concentration you know. Hand me the ice water and fan my brow while I relax a bit. The fog is very comforting but I must get rid of it if I'm to go on with these "divine revelations." Hmummm . . . very interesting. A bridge over a big river . . . the engineers are Robert Brown, Robert Guibord, Richard Brackett, Arthur Griffith, Norman Richardson and Richard White. They are about to conduct their final test of their new bridge. They are sending a heavy ant across it. Oh, too bad boys, it collapsed. Well, try, try, again. Lawrence Haworth John Maxwell, Earle Nichols and Gilbert Kelley are working on a plan to build a better mouse trap. So far they have caught nothing but a moose. Betty Alden, Joan Archambault, Janet Bailey, Audrey Barrett, Rita Canelli, Jean Drinkwater and Joan Fitzsimmons are hard working "bouncers" at the Pidgeon Club. Their most regular customers are Mark Batchelder, millionaire play-boy; Charles Belyea, big motor magnet; Warren Clapp a married man with "House Maid's Kneec"; Robert Hansen, our second Einstein; Fred Hatch, a detective of the first water (dishwater); Donald Griffin, teacher of philosophy; Richard Chadbourne, swordmaker; Robert Burns, a member of the school board; Richard Bodman, Mayor of Boston; Franklin Young, Principal of Braintree High School; Thomas Barrett, President of U. S. A.; Donald Davies, an expert on the high cost of Mexican jumping beans in China; George Geisser, the only man on earth who has been to Mars . . . in his own rocket ship too; Francis Dugan, star of cowboy movies; Joseph DiNatali, bull fighter up from Mexico on a vacation; John Rossiel, champion wrestler of the world; Daphne McConnell, Louise Mariani, instructors in the art of self defense; Arthur Hicks, world renowned author and commentator; Warren Hayes and Paul McSharry, heads of local F.B.I.; Claire Viden and Margaret Starkey, arbitrary councilors to the U.N.; Jean Lindahl and Barbara Cheney, who are students of Atomic energy. Never fear, I am almost through . . . Robert King, Rocco Libertine and William Hicks are partners in the undertaking business. Their customers are lucky stiffs! Barbara Bregoli owns a fleet of taxi cabs and chauffeurs some of our country's notables, some of whom are William Smith, street cleaner; Arthur Donald, haberdashery operator; Rose Cochrane, postmistress; Audrey Jewell, paper hanger; Florence Asci, plumber; Florence Mellquist, editor of Advice to the Love Lorn in the local newspaper; Jean Carroll, auto mechanic; Mary Cavanagh, taxidermist; Anne Jenkins, tree surgeon; Pauline Ferris, opera singer; Joan Ellis, ash collector; Joyce Colbert, train conductor; Viola Buker, dog catcher; Lillian Green, maker of the hole in donuts; Linda Ivers, cigar maker; Warren Nickerson, upholsterer; Harvey Lyons, floor walker; Robert Lavina, umbrella maker; Anthony Iamele, dry cleaner; Thomas Hollinshead, house painter; Donald Holbrook, flag pole sitter; Walter Hyde, executioner at Sing-Sing; Robert Muir, hen-pecked husband; Randall Walker, bubble-dancer; Robert Warren, exterminator; Barbara Calderwood, cement mixer; Nancy Callaway, artist; Joyce Colbert, cook; Barbara Ferguson, prestidigitator; Ann Gorham, glass blower; Marjorie Holbrook, boot-black; Shirley Johnson, manicurist; Nancy Kellick and Barbara Richardson, photographers of men; Claire Patenaude, clam-digger; Barbara Noyes, sky writer; Doris M. Moore, zoo keeper; Dottie Lyon, piano mover; Louise Digaetano, millinery expert.

And now, as the fog closes in for the last time I wish to leave with you one last vision. Alice Pitman in a sanitorium recovering from a severe case of writer's cramp.

YEARBOOK AND WAMPATUCK

"Where's my 1948 Yearbook, Constance F. Stecher, Sponsor Mom?" As years go by and high school days roll into the distant past, the closest bonds between "then" and "now" will be the Yearbook and Wampatuck dating from way back there in 1948. Remember how Joan Mahar, editor-in-chief of the annual, and Miss Constance F. Stecher, faculty adviser, used to sit with their heads together trying to reduce expenses to a minimum? Louise Magazu, editor of the school magazine, The Wampatuck, had her share of worries meeting deadlines. And don't forget those business managers upon whose shoulders rested the lion's share of responsibility for financing both publications—Gil Kelley, Bill Westland, Bob Donovan, Harvey Lyons, Jr., Bob Guibord and Dick Gillies.

HIGH SCHOOL LIBRARY STAFF

Ruth P. Strout, Director

The B. H. S. library staff was formed at the beginning of the school year under the able direction of Miss Ruth P. Strout, librarian. This year there were thirty-four members, representing all classes, who helped in charging, discharging and shelving books, filing, sending overdue notices, checking attendance, lettering, mending and stamping books, opening mail, arranging bulletins, and caring for the appearance of the library in general. The girls gained much of advantage to themselves in the way of a wider knowledge of books, practice for those hoping to enter the library profession, opportunity in meeting the public and a certain satisfaction in the realization that they were doing the school a service.

WAMPVILLE FLASH

Constance F. Stecher, Sponsor

Finding worthy editorial material, sports coverage, rewriting, and meeting the deadline are but a few of the tasks performed by the staff of the Wampville Flash, the high school's weekly publication which appears in the Braintree Observer. In conjunction with the course in journalism, the members have presented the people of the community with glimpses of the "goings on" in the large "Georgian Colonial" on Washington Street. With the invaluable aid of Miss Constance F. Stecher, faculty adviser and course instructor, the group have done a commendable job in the field of news-writing.

SENIOR SHOW

Louise Magazu, Director

It required endless time and effort to capture the mysterious secrets hidden in the depths of Shangri-la but as always the seniors never let down until the desired final effect was attained on performance night, February 5. Long rehearsals, beginning in December, proved great fun despite the slight ill feelings, petty disputes and headaches that sometimes accompanied them. Capable Louise Magazu, from the dramatic family of that same name, handled the director's job like the trouper she is. The finished product uncovered a take-off on famous historical events featuring Columbus, the Declaration of Independence, a dreamy student, and specialties galore.

THE GONDOLIERS

Mae Lindsay, Director

The Gondoliers, a Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, was presented in April '47 by the class of '48. The cast was headed by Virginia Craig, Phyllis Johnson, Thayer Anastos, John Bregoli, John Libertine, Len Ringquist, Robert Dingman and Jean Creswell. The operetta was filled with Gilbert's subtle humor and Sullivan's lilting music. The two Gondoliers, Mareo and Guiseppe, played by John Bregoli and John Libertine, pretend to the throne of Barataria, left their native Venice to claim the title of king. A drummer, Bob Dingman, in the service of a Spanish king, Len Ringquist, was proven the real king and the Gondoliers were forced to return to paddling their gondolas.

EVER SINCE EVE

John Ferrett, Director

Under Mr. John Ferrett's able direction, the Oral English class presented Ever Since Eve, a sparkling comedy in three acts by Ryerson and Clements on December 5, 1947. Bob Donovan played the part of an aspiring newspaper man and Judy Robinson portrayed the unappreciated nuisance who continually foiled Bob's attempts at becoming a great editor. Betty Robinson was the southern belle who wrapped all the men around her precious little finger. Nancy O'Donnell, stage manager, and her helpers, the prop and make-up men, executed a fine behind-the-scenes job. Miss Alice E. Daugherty took care of tickets and Mrs. Herbert Campbell had charge of the house.

BAND

Arthur P. Hauck, Director

Omp-pah! Mr. Arthur P. Hauck organized a cracker-jack band which kept the school in the best of spirits on the football field and in assemblies throughout the year. Marjorie Stevens, pert, smiling sophomore drum majorette, dazzled the spectators by strutting her stuff at all their outings. Work since November centered on music for the State and Braintree High School Festivals held in the spring. For the selected number Mr. Hauck chose the majestic Festral Overture by Robert Gibb. Officers for the year included Warren Hayes, president; Bob Evans, vice-president; Lonise Mariani, secretary-treasurer; Betty Richardson and Thelma Hauber, librarians.

ORCHESTRA

Arthur P. Hauck, Director

Mr. Arthur Hauck based his 1948 orchestral program on music by modern composers, principally George Gershwin and Cole Porter. Hit tunes such as Jalousie, Stardust, Night and Day, and Dancing In The Dark were appreciated by all audiences. A quartet including Louise Mariani and Jeane Creswell, violins; Betty Richardson son, clarinet; and Helen Wilson, pianist, played at plays and entertainments in Braintree. A few members participated in dance bands and orchestras outside of school. Lillian Green, a French horn artist, brought a great honor to musical groups at the high school when she won a scholarship presented annually by the Wollaston Glee Club.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Lennart Ringquist, President

"The purpose of the Council shall be to bring about a better understanding between the faculty and the student body, and to fulfill the requests and inclinations of every member of the school for the benefit of the entire enrollment." Thus states the constitution of Braintree High's newly formed Student Council.

Increasing the social life for the students, greater cafeteria privileges, aiding the promotion of the annual Fall Sport's Banquet, the varying of assemblies, and the promotion of good citizenship among the pupils are but a few of the important tasks that have been undertaken to promote the matters mentioned in the constitution. Still in infancy, the council is well on its way to becoming one of the most successful in the Commonwealth.

CHOIR

Mae Lindsay, Director

The Braintree High School Girls' Choir, directed by Miss Mae Lindsay, has completed a busy year filled with engagements, highlighted by a weekend trip in May to Montpelier, Vermont where the group sang at Trinity Methodist Church. December took the prize for the busiest month, the demand for choral singing being greatest during the Christmas season. Christmas, a cantata by Abt, was presented in churches and clubs throughout Braintree and Quincy, as well as two concerts given at the Park Street Church in Boston. Because the seniors command a large majority in the group, many positions will be open to underclassmen next fall.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

Mae Lindsay, Director

An outstanding number of one hundred and twenty girls, under the capable direction of Miss Mae Lindsay, rehearsed faithfully on Thursdays during the year in order to prepare for the two big festivals given in the spring. Their most important number was the difficult Enchanting Waltz. With Helen Wilson as accompanist, the Glee Club mastered the music required for the State Festival held in May. The annual spring concert includes plans to have a professional harpist as guest soloist. Forty voices from the Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs sang in the chorus of The Mikado, a Gilbert and Sullivan operetta.

BOYS' GLEE CLUB

Mae Lindsay, Director

Miss Mae Lindsay has had the good fortune to work with an extremely enthusiastic and talented group of boys in her '47-'48 Glee Club. To begin the year with their best foot forward, the bow-tied singers won first prize on talent program over Station WCOP. Popular on radio broadcasts, the Glee Club participated in the dedicatory exercises of WJDA, Quincy's new radio station. With Richard Marcolini at the piano, the boys prepared many popular numbers including some from recent Rogers-Hammerstein musicals. The highlight of their year's work was a concert given in January at Cushing Veterans Hospital which included instrumental and vocal solos.

FOOTBALL '47

Arigo La Tanzi, Coach

The Braintree High gridsters, under Arigo La Tanzi, completed its season with a record of four wins and five losses. Carrying a heavy schedule, the Wamps fared well over power-laden opponents who found the La Tanzi nut a tough one to crack. Toting the mail, speedster "Wild Bill" Brooks and company had little difficulty dispersing with Sanford, Me., Rockland, Attleboro, and a highly favored Milton eleven. The wall-like lines of North Quincy, Quincy, Norwood, Weymouth and Belmont, coupled with bad breaks, were enough to send the Wamp aces down to defeat. The La Tanzi squad suffered a severe loss when "GaGa" Ruddy, a standout end, was lost for the season in the annual Football Jamboree.

FIELD HOCKEY

Alice E. Daughraty, Coach

Playing hard and fast, the field hockey team of Braintree High completed its first undefeated season. Ably coached by Miss Alice Daughraty, the "femmes fatales" scored thirty goals to the opposition's five. Led by their co-captains, Louise Mariani and Betty Richardson, the squad presented Coach Daughraty with her first untarnished slate in fifteen years. Because of inclement weather conditions two of the tilts were postponed. And it was with deep regret on the part of the team that the second Hingham game was postponed as the girls of maroon and white had tied them in a previous encounter.

CROSS COUNTRY

Paul V. Toolin, Coach

The Wamp harriers, under the capable Paul V. Toolin, completed their regular season with an untarnished slate. Carrying the Blue and White spangles the hill and dalers, paced by Bob Lauria and Alan Carlsen, went on to reap a bountiful harvest—the winning of the first annual South Shore Cross Country meet. Falling before the flashy Wamp reaper were Milton twice, Brockton, North Quincy, and Weymouth twice. In the State meet at Franklin Park, Braintree High led by Alan Carlsen placed sixth. Going on to the New England encounter, Carlsen again came through to place ninth.

BASKETBALL

Fran Mear, Coach

Approximately sixty aspiring hoopsters greeted Fran Mear, Braintree High's hoop mentor on the opening day of practice in late November. When the final cut was completed the Wamp pilot had rounded out a well balanced squad with which to work. Veteran Bill Goodale, teamed with "Dugie" Davies, controlled the back court for the Mear men. Coupled with speedster Dick Perrault and Bob Donovan, was the man in the pivot slot—flossy Leo Saunders. The team's height was very capably taken care of by "Dinny" Batchelder, "Big Henry" Hicks and "Swede" Ringquist. Stand-outs in the rest of the reserve category were Tom Lang, "Bruno" Iamele, "Wild Bill" Brooks and Jack Barranger.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

Alice E. Daughraty, Coach

With the snow came the girls' basketball team in full swing. Day after day a group of most energetic and determined girls donned the blue and white to face their opponents. Pride was in these Wampettes as they played the game and proved that, although only in their second year as an organized team, they had what it took. Each time the whistle blew and the referee took her place, the forwards and guards were all out for the ball and the much coveted basket. Breathless to the last minute, the all-senior varsity and junior and sophomore second team played superb and spirited basketball regardless of score.

RIFLE CLUB

James L. Jordan, Director

Every Monday evening, under the capable direction of Mr. James L. Jordan, the Braintree High School Boy's Rifle Club met to practise and compete in inter-scholastic and by-weekly matches. The Wamp crew paced by Harvey Lyons and Bob King have fared excellently against such teams as Quincy's blue and white, the North Quincy's Raiders, and the De Molay squad. The successful season experienced by the fellows can only be attributed to the fine and unfailing spirit of co-operation of Coach Jordan and his boys. It is hoped that more schools of the South Shore may be added to the Wamp slate so as to create the incentive of keener competition.

BASEBALL '47

Francis E. Mear, Coach

The Braintree High baseball team, piloted by Francis E. Mear, completed its season with six victories and six defeats. The good hitting and pitching of the Wamp nine was offset by bad breaks resulting from costly errors. Twirling for the Mear aggregation were Vic Damiano, Jerry Dagley, Eric Allinson, and Art Morgan. Capable Joe Frazier handled the receiving chores for the squad. Teaming with him in the infield were Jack Barranger at the "hot corner," Art Morgan at short, Hank Williams at the keystone sack, and Tom Girouard at first. Patrolling the outer spaces for the blue and white were John Bregoli, Bill Brooks, and John LeRoy.

TRACK '47

Paul V. Toolin, Coach

With Paul Toolin at the helm, Braintree High's tracksters completed their season with a record of two wins and three losses. The '47 season was a building year for Coach Toolin as he anticipates a bang-up nucleus for '48. Burning up the cinders in the 100- and 200-yard events was "Wild Bill" Brooks of football fame. Showing great promise for '48 were Bob "Gundar" Lauria and Dick McCormack, who made a substantial showing in the middle distance events. Outstanding performers in the high jump were Brooks and bespectacled Henry Hicks. Capable Bob King and Dick Brackett handled the pole faulting chores while John LeRoy and Harry Helm gave their all at the shot put.

GIRLS' SOFTBALL '47

Alice E. Daughraty, Coach

The spring of '47 inaugurated a new member to Braintree High's long list of sports—girls' softball. When "batter up" was called at the first practice, Miss Alice Daughraty, helmsman for the group, found the Wamp felines' knowledge of the game very rudimentary, needing a great amount of practice in all phases. The cold and rainy spring did not hamper the girls' effort to have a ball club of championship class. Considering it was a start from scratch, it was a very successful season with three victories, two of which were gained from the orange and black of Thayer and one from the girls from strawberry valley—Abington. The Wamp aggregation suffered its only defeats at the hands of the North Quincy Raiderettes.

MAJORETTES

Arthur P. Hauck, Director

A superb beginning for the sparkling corps of majorettes has been wrought on the grid-iron at Hollis Field this season when petite and lovely Miss Margorie Stevens led her group of blue and white "high steppers" at the head of the Wamp band. Unsurpassable were these visions of Hellenistic lustre and precision as they twirled their batons in hopes that they could help lead the stellar football team on to greater laurels. In storm or howling wind these strutters showed their prowess to thousands of football fans, and in doing so endeared themselves to countless numbers. Aiding Margorie in the flashy endeavor were: Judy Leech, Ann Brow, Dianne MacDonald, Carol Peterson, Marilyn Moore, and Barbara Powers.

BOYS' TENNIS '47

Alton C. Perry, Coach

The Braintree High boys' tennis team closed its season with a record of two victories and five defeats. Although not too impressive, the Wampville group gave stiff battle to strongly superior teams. Wearing the spangles of blue and white were Harry Balfour, Harry Clement, John Libertine and Ed Johnson, senior members of the squad, who held the number one, three, four and five singles position respectively. Randy Walker, a junior, held the number two singles position in the group. Pairing with sophomore Russ Kidder in the first set of doubles was capable Bob Noyes. The second duet was comprised of Harry Balfour and Randy Walker.

CHEERLEADERS

Alice E. Daughraty, Director

"Everyone from Braintree High stand up an' holler!" Such has been the cry of Wampville's seven bundles of cheer. In sleet or howling wind the toters of the blue megaphone have brought the added zest needed to lead our sports indulgents on to higher laurels. To these young damsels whose smiling countenances have led the pigskin and basketball outings on to the greater victory—one hundred per cent school solidarity spirit—goes the greatest in spirit the fellas and gals of '48 can give.

Class of 1948

THE BRAINTREE
SCHOOL-SPORTS COUNCIL

To the Class of 1948

goes our heartfelt congratulations for your exemplary achievements while a part of Braintree High School. Your successful endeavors will go down in the history of the institution as being of unsurpassed quality.

We, the members of the Student Council, who leave with you and those who stay to carry Braintree on to higher laurels, wish to thank you for your unfailing co-operation in its founding and the carrying on of the organization.

Your fine spirit is indelibly engraved upon the present and future members of the student body and it is sincerely hoped that it may continue in whatever your future endeavor.

On behalf of the Council, its officers, and faculty advisers, we wish you all Godspeed.

Sincerely,

Lennart Ringquist,
President Student Council
